Published on germanhaimerl.de (https://www.germanhaimerl.de)

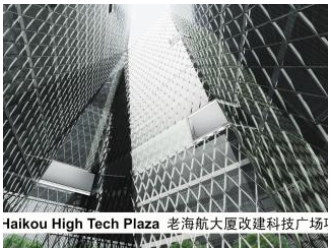
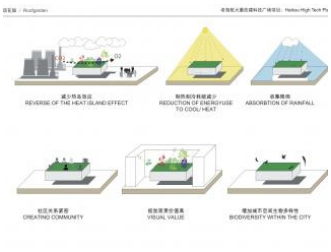
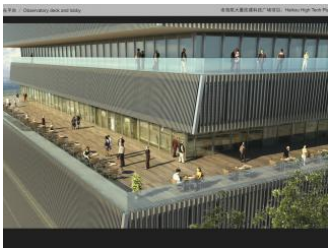
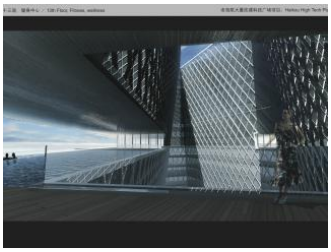
HAIKOU High-Tech Plaza

A pagoda for living, working, shopping and more









We were asked to design a tower for the HNA Group that could perform various functions. The usual construction type for these buildings in China involves individual residential towers set on a multi-story base, which is usually used as a shopping center. Our design intentionally avoids this stereotype, instead exploring the possibilities of new building shapes that refer to historical building types.

German Haimerl Architekten Hubertusstraße 22 80639 München +49 89 178047-0 office@germanhaimerl.de